EXPLORATION DRILL SITE SAFETY

Johannesburg

This course was launched in June 2010 in response to enormous demand from Mining and Exploration companies and to date over 300 delegates have attended the 16 courses that have been run in addition 6 customised courses have been presented to private companies.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

The course is absolutely essential for anyone involved in any exploration drilling project, specifically, exploration geologists, geology managers, project engineers, safety officers and safety managers.

It is essential that delegates have a good understanding of the physical principles involved in a drilling operation. It is therefore strongly recommended that only people with a good deal of exploration experience or people who have attended one of the GSSA Drilling Methods and Techniques Courses register for this course.

ABOUT THE COURSE

The course takes place over two full days and will run from 8:00 to 16:00 on both days. For delegates to gain full value from this important training course it is essential that they attend for the full duration of the course and are requested to ensure that their travel and other plans allow for full attendance.

Each delegate will receive a 'Mine Health and Safety Act' book, training manual and notes as well as a certificate of attendance.

THIS COURSE IS LIMITED TO 20 PARTICIPANTS
